

I am a current listener of a national broadcast KLOVE. I listen locally on FM 88.3,99.5,91.1. I believe an approval of this proceeding would have a negative impact on my local community. KLOVE currently provides me and my community a clean wholesome radio alternative that I can allow my children to listen to, without fear of what they will be hearing.

IF Lower Power FM stations were given priority, ultimately pushing KLOVE off the air, then their broadcasts would potentially be replaced with something that I would not allow my children to listen to.

I agree that local stations should be allowed to operate, and should not be over-powered by national or regional stations. However, in its current state, this rule would potentially eliminate KLOVE from the airways. This is certainly not in the best interest of the my community or communities across America.

Please reconsider this rule and consider other options that would allow both to exist together.

Thank you,

Jason Hicks
